Reger Quits as Principal of City High School

EDUCATOR TO JOIN STAFF AT OHIO CAPITAL

Resignation Follows Recent Reemployment and Hoist in Salary

HOLDS POST TWO YEARS

Board of Education to Consider Successor Tuesday Evening

Elmer E. Reger, principal of Circleville high school for the last two years, resigned Wednesday to accept a position in the faculty of Central high school, Columbus.

His resignation was given orally to Supt. Frank Fischer. Mr. Reger had been re-hired for the next school term at an increase in salary. He would have received $2,000 for the 1937-38 term had he returned to Circleville. His Columbus salary was not disclosed.

Mr. Reger has been attending Summer school at Ohio State university in quest of a master's degree. His new work, Mr. Fischer was informed, will be as a teacher of biology and botany with physical education supervision to be added later.

Mr. Reger came to Circleville from Orrville where he served as director of physical education for several years. He had previously coached at Dennison, O. He was graduated in physical education from Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, where he starred in football and baseball for three years. Mr. Reger is a native of New Philadelphia, O.

He was employed in the Summer of 1935 as Circleville athletic coach to succeed P. S. Herberholz. Before school started E. Irvin Gephart, then serving as principal, resigned to go to Ashtabula leaving a vacancy in that position. Mr. Reger was elevated to the principalship, Jack Landrum later being employed as athletic coach.

GEORGIA SOUR GRAPES HURLEY ON FUGITIVE

ATLANTA, Ga., July 28—(UP)—The Georgia prison commission assured Massachusetts officials today they were welcome to adopt James Cunningham, 37-year-old negro convict escapee, as a citizen of that state.

Commenting on Gov. Charles F. Hurley's refusal to grant extradition of Cunningham at Boston to face a long prison term for burglaries, Prison Commission Clerk E. A. Williams said: "If that's the kind of citizens Massachusetts wants, then Georgia is glad to give him to them." Cunningham escaped from the Fulton county (Atlanta) chain gang in 1924, after serving only a few months of a 34 to 70 years sentence. He has lived in Massachusetts for the past 12 years under the name of Eugene Wilson.

GET TO WORK, ORDER GIVEN CONGRESS MEN

Administration Applies Pressure to Save F. D. R. Program

WASHINGTON, July 28—(UP)—Administration forces applied pressure to congress today in an effort to save President Roosevelt's four-point legislative program from abandonment in the dash toward adjournment.

The pressure, designed to keep the congressional demand for a vacation under control until the program is enacted, came from three sources: Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, holding senate sessions until late each day, said he would move the meeting hour up from noon until 11 a. m. if the wages and hours bill was not passed by nightfall.

A group of 14 democratic "freshmen" in the senate announced after conferring with Barkley last night at a dinner party given by one of their number that they would insist congress "accomplish something" before adjourning. It was admitted that the "something" included the wage hour bill, tax loophole legislation and a housing act, all part of the President's legislative program.

Farm Action Favored A bloc of veteran administration supporters in the senate, including Sherman Minton, D., Ind., George McGill, D., Kan., Robert M. La Follette, P., Wis., and others declared themselves in favor of enacting farm legislation at this time.

$22,786 CRASH SUIT SET FOR TRIAL MONDAY

Trial of the much-delayed suit of Mrs. Ruth Elsea against the Benedict Lines, Columbus trucking company, will begin before Judge J. W. Adkins next Monday at 9 a. m.

Mrs. Elsea seeks $22,786 as a result of the collision which killed her husband, Asa, near the Franklin county line 15 months ago. John McCrady and Bernard Dowden died in the same wreck when the car they were driving and a Benedict truck crashed.

COUNTY'S CORN CROP VALUE TO SURPASS WHEAT

Big Maize Production Moving Rapidly Toward Elevator and Cannery Stage

$2,000,000 IS ESTIMATE

Experts Predict 45 Bushel Yield On Total of 85,000 Acres

Pickaway county's corn crop, expected to pass the wheat yield in value, is moving rapidly toward the elevator and cannery stage. Harvest will start in earnest in less than two weeks.

Much sweet corn has been placed on the market, but the wholesale movement has not yet started.

Farm experts estimate the 1937 crop to be the greatest that has been available in Pickaway in the last 10 or 12 years. Nearly 85,000 acres of the finest county land have been planted. The yield is expected to average 45 bushels an acre, which will mean that a crop of 3,825,000 bushels will be harvested.

At the present market price, that yield would mean $3,825,000 return, but elevator men and leading farmers believe the price will be lower before the crop reaches the market. A safe estimate, one farm leader said, would be a $2,000,000 crop.

Prices prevailing on the Circleville market, Wednesday, were 97 cents for yellow corn and $1 for white.

Pickaway county was assigned 82,000 acres for the corn crop under the federal conservation program, but only three-fourths of the county's agriculturalists signed agreements to abide by the government program. Farm officials believe that those who did not sign planted enough to increase the acreage to 85,000.

Weather Favorable The 1936 corn harvest was one of the poorest in years with the average yield about 25 bushels an acre.

Favorable weather in the last few weeks has overcome the delay in cultivation caused by the heavy spring rains. Two Scioto river floods caused much corn crop loss in the lowlands, some estimates going as high as $350,000.

FIRST LADY IS DECLARED NO EVADER OF TAX

WASHINGTON, July 28—(UP)—Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, today defended before the congressional tax-avoidance committee, the arrangement whereby Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt turned over to charity without paying income tax, $30,000 in radio fees.

Jackson appeared in refutation of charges by Rep. Hamilton Fish, Jr., R., N. Y., that Mrs. Roosevelt had used tax loopholes in her charity donations. Jackson, who was general counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau in 1934 when the radio contract was executed, explained that Mrs. Roosevelt acted on treasury advice.

BARBERS SNEAK IN OPPOSITION CHAIRS, STRIKE

KANKAKEE, Ill., July 28—(UP)—Sixty members of the Kankakee barbers' union locked their shops today, slipped into non-union establishments in guise of customers, climbed into waiting barber chairs, and announced a sit-down strike.

Japs Told Of Powers' War Fear

American and British Diplomats Confer With Koki Hirota

TOKYO, July 28—(UP)—American ambassador Joseph C. Grew and J. L. Dodds, charge d'affaires of the British embassy, expressed the "grave concern" of the United States and Great Britain over the Chinese situation today.

Both visited Foreign Minister Koki Hirota, and to him, in a discussion of the crisis, told of the anxiety lest the fighting at Peiping develop even more tragically. It was reported that Hirota told the envoy that the government clung to hope that the situation might be localized, and ended by negotiation with north China authorities.

The chamber of deputies approved emergency appropriations of 96,000,000 Yen ($27,840,000) which the government asked to cover expenditures in the north China situation. The money was asked only yesterday.

Cabinet ministers, realizing that danger of a major conflict seemed acute, watched the situation closely.

But under the Japanese system, the cabinet was powerless to act. The army took its action in starting a Peiping offensive on its own initiative. In Japan, the war minister is responsible not to the premier but to the emperor alone, and the minister is named by the army.

FREDDIE'S AUNT SCOFFS AT WEEK WAGE OF $2000

HOLLYWOOD, July 28—(UP)—Freddie Bartholomew's movie studio has offered to raise his salary to $2,000 a week, but the 13-year-old star's aunt and guardian reiterated today that he could not meet his obligations and save anything for his future with less than a $25,000 wage.

The aunt, Miss Millicent Bartholomew, said she would return the boy to school in England and said his movie career unless the demand was met, "because everybody is after his money." She has taken him away on his first vacation in 10 months and her last words were that the vacation would be permanent, so far as Hollywood was concerned, unless Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio raised its offer another $500.

Freddie has been earning $1,100 weekly for two years and has very little to show for his work, Miss Bartholomew said. Income taxes, lawyers and agents fees, the support of his parents and sisters and his own maintenance have reduced his net income to $12,000 a year, and $25,000, representing two years' savings, went in one sum to lawyers who handled his guardianship suit, in which the aunt became the custodian.

"The whole argument," Miss Bartholomew said, "is over $500 a week. That seems a pitiful sum to quibble over when Freddie's drawing power as a star is considered. "We are taking $2,500 a week as the least on which we can meet expenses. The studio has offered $2,000. We haven't heard from them further. I can't understand it. "Remember that Freddie is 13 now. He has only 18 months or two years at the most, as a juvenile star. And this is the first time in two years we have asked any increase in salary."

HOOSIER TO CONTINUE COURT BILL BATTLE

WASHINGTON, July 28—(UP)—Sen. Sherman Minton, D., (Ind.), announced today that he would offer an amendment to the substitutive lower court reform bill requiring a two-thirds majority of the supreme court to invalidate an act of congress.

BOMBS, FLAMES GREET RULERS ON IRISH VISIT

Railway Bridges Blasted, Customs House Burned Along Border

ROYAL TRIP PROTESTED

Terrific Explosion Near Ceremonial Stand Halts Welcome Address

BELFAST, July 28—(UP)—An explosion in the streets of Belfast and the bombing and burning of customs houses and railway bridges along the Irish Free State border greeted King George VI and Queen Elizabeth today upon their arrival on a coronation visit to northern Ireland.

Their majesties arrived in the royal yacht, Victoria and Albert, at 11:15 a. m. (8:15 a. m. EDT), escorted by three cruisers and six destroyers, and motored from Donegal Quay to the city hall where a municipal welcoming ceremony awaited them.

The royal procession had reached the city hall and the customary royal address of welcome was being read when a terrific explosion occurred a quarter of a mile away. Glass within a 300 yard radius was shattered. The explosion was in a bonded warehouse, apparently from gas. The sidewalk in front of the warehouse was torn up. No one was injured.

Police sped to the scene and cordoned off the area.

FRANCO'S ARMY SLACKENS PACE IN MADRID DRIVE

MADRID, July 28—(UP)—Gen. Francisco Franco's sudden return to his Salamanca headquarters indicated today that nationalist forces had decided to slacken their furious counter offensive against the loyalists on the central front.

Although the nationalist commander reportedly had declared that loyalists "sacrificed" 30,000 crack troops in defending their positions, and that any sector on the central front was vulnerable to a nationalist attack, the offensive weakened with his departure. Enemy shells crashed into Madrid at brief intervals from 10:40 p. m. until midnight last night, apparently in retaliation for the loyalists' halting the rebel counter offensive to the west. A number of persons were reported killed.

A loyalist communique said that comparative tranquility prevailed on the central front, with only slight cannonading in sectors where fighting had been raging furiously. Nationalists, it was said, had ceased, at least for the time being, their attack on the outskirts of Villanueva De La Canada, near Quijorna, where a small loyalist garrison has been holding out stubbornly against repeated on-slauts.

Loyalist troops from the north continued efforts to break through rebel lines forming a semicircle around Quijorna and reestablish communications with the besieged garrison.

FAIR, WARMER FORECAST AFTER CHILLY NIGHT

Fair and warmer weather was predicted Wednesday by government observers, but it had better come soon or Circleville residents will begin to believe the seasons have been twisted.

Hold Father In Child's Death

Mildred Jeffcoat

Leonard Jeffcoat

PENDING an inquiry into the mystery death of his four-year-old daughter, Mildred, Leonard Jeffcoat, 33-year-old forestry department worker of Southgate, Cal., was held by police on suspicion of murder. Mildred's body was found in the ruins of a fire which destroyed the Jeffcoat home. Police reported preliminary examination of the child's body showed no signs she had died from the fire. Jeffcoat was found by firemen, lying outside his burning home, unharmed and reportedly intoxicated.

Neutrality Act Soon To Hit Japan, China

WASHINGTON, July 28—(UP)—Invocation of the American neutrality act against both Japan and China appeared imminent today as reports from the Peiping-Tientsin area indicated large forces of Japanese and Chinese troops were engaged in actual, if undeclared, war.

The law compels President Roosevelt, "when we shall determine that a state of war exists" between two or more nations, to proclaim the fact. Automatically embargo provisions of the law go into effect, and it becomes unlawful to sell or export arms, ammunition or implements of war from this country to either of the belligerents.

The question confronting the President and Secretary of State Cordell Hull was that of determining when a "state of war" exists.

In official quarters it was indicated that the answer to this question will depend largely on whether the Chinese national government at Nanking sends recognized central government troops to the support of the beleaguered Twenty-Ninth route army now under heavy attack in the Peiping area by Japanese regular troops.

TWO HELD AS SUSPECTS IN LINDSAY DEATH

CLEVELAND, July 28—(UP)—Two Springfield, O. men arraigned in police court Wednesday on robbery charges, were being held in Cuyahoga county jail pending placing of charges of implication in the murder July 4 of Robert Lindsay, Jeffersonville, Fayette county, beer parlor operator.

The men were Walter Barnes, 18, alias Cecil Provans, and Everett Jones, 33, alias Everett Sherick.

They were arrested for taking $60 from Jerry Friedman in a Cleveland drugstore robbery on July 1. Both men were held in jail under $25,000 bond. They were taken into custody by Shaker Heights police July 10 as suspicious characters. After questioning they admitted the drugstore robbery and a holdup near Washington C. H. Fayette county authorities questioned the pair and reported that Barnes admitted waiting outside while Jones went into the beer parlor, operated by Lindsay, to hold him up. Jones denied firing the shot that killed Lindsay although he admitted entering the resort for the purpose of robbery, according to police.

NATION GOES WILD WITH JOY OVER VICTORIES

BULLETIN

NANKING, China, July 28—(UP)—A Chinese military spokesman asserted today that Chinese troops captured 2000 Chinese Japanese war planes on Fengtai, the Japanese base south of Peiping. Soon afterward it was announced that Chinese troops captured and stormed the town of Yangtsun, 16 miles north of Tientsin, where Japanese were quartered.

SHANGHAI, July 28—(UP)—China's great cities went wild with rejoicing today on reports of reports that Chinese troops were hurling back Japanese attackers in the Peiping area. The shame and helplessness that China had endured for years under the persistent pressure of ambitious Japan were assuaged by jubilation that sent thousands out into the streets of Shanghai as Shanghai and Nanking exploded fireworks and shouted praises of the 29th Chinese army. It is the 29th that is doing the fighting at Peiping against the trained masses of the Japanese. It looked as if the 29th would take its place along the historic 19th route army which to the astonishment of the world gave courageous resistance to the Japanese at Shanghai in 1933.

Ultimatum Sounded The China Evening News here blazoned headlines that the 29th had sent its own ultimatum to the ultimatum-sending Japanese and had ordered them to evacuate North China within 48 hours or the 29th would "blast them out." A representative of the 29th army at Nanking asserted that the "big sword" corps of the 29th was active in the fighting in the Fengtai area south of Peiping. He asserted that the Chinese, including the big sword men, they carry great, broad two-handed swords—had killed 600 Japanese in hand to hand fighting and killed 50 Japanese and captured 500 weapons.

MOTHER OF 10 FAILS TO PAY FINE; IS JAILED

Mrs. Verna Harmon, 47, of near Cedar Hill, mother of 10 children, was placed in the county jail Tuesday evening for failure to pay a fine of $100 and costs for theft of a hog from Fred Fee, Walnut township. Her hearing was in Justice of the Peace H. O. Eveland's court.

Mrs. Harmon was arrested by the sheriff's department several days after two sons, Paul, and John Jr., 22, were sent to jail under a similar fine for same theft. The mother was named by the sheriff as a stigmatizer of the theft. The hog was found in the barn at the Harmon home.

BLAZING GAS TRUCK FATAL TO FOUR IN CRASH

One was pulled from the wreckage alive but died within a few minutes. The dead were Charles H. Hargis and E. C. Brannan of Fort Worth and J. Smiler and Lewis H. Hargis of Graham.

Monday for Work
At Courthouse

ESTIMATE ON JOB

Three Contractors Seeking Job—Work to be Started Soon

County commissioners will let a contract next Monday for rest-rooms to be installed in the front of the courthouse.

Definite action on the project was assured Tuesday evening when council met as a committee of the whole and agreed to share the expense with the county. The officials agreed several weeks ago that the construction should cost not more than $4,000. When bids were opened last Monday it was found that materials had increased in cost until the project could not be completed for less than $4,500.

County and city will each pay $2,250 for the work.

Three bids were reviewed by the commissioners. Work on the project will start as soon as the contract is awarded.

SUCCESS LOOMS FOR CLARKSBURG ANNUAL OUTING

Nearly completed plans for the Clarksburg annual field day and homecoming, to be held in the Hurst woods near Clarksburg, August 5, indicate another successful event if old Jupiter Pluvius is kind, say members of the organizing committee.

The varied program of entertainment will offer as headline: to the large crowd expected, Kay Smith's Variety Revue. This act consists of a group of entertainers from Columbus recently booked at the Hotel Chittenden. The troupe is made up of several well known performers including Eddie Montgomery and Patty Cheate, who were prize-winners in a recent state-wide talent contest, Mary Elaine Laballo, 1936 Columbus Auto Show contest winner, and Betty Lou Sims, radio singer and impersonator.

The principal speaker of the day will be Edward Bath, Farm Bureau legislative agent.

To add to the usual picnic athletic contests there will be a greased pole climb, and a softball game has been arranged between the Camp Ross High Fliers and the Lewis Shoe team of Chillicothe.

For benefit of the special field day fund, lunch will be served by women of the Clarksburg Methodist Church.

The afternoon review will be repeated in the evening under floodlights on the grounds. Music will be furnished throughout the day by the Clarksburg Community Band.

The light rate ordinance voted by council last week remained "status quo" Wednesday with Mayor W. J. ## INJURY, ILLNESS COST WORKERS 268 JUNE DAYS

Pickaway county industrial workers lost 268 days' time during June because of injuries and occupational diseases. The report of the Ohio Industrial Commission for the month discloses that 34 claims were filed locally, 11 causing over seven days' time, five seven days or less, and 18 bringing medical cases with no loss of time.

Claims filed over the state amounted to 20,630 or 1,700 more than in May. Eighty-nine fatalities were listed, an increase of four over the preceding month.

CONTRACT MADE FOR IMPROVING STATE ROUTE 23

Contract for Improvement of Route 23, south of Circleville, was granted Tuesday by the state highway department to W. H. Ringwald and Sons, Chillicothe, on a bid of $263,413.

The project calls for grading, drainage, surfacing with brick and a bridge over Dry Run for 4,044 miles on the Chillicothe-Circleville road. The highway to be replaced lies just north of Chillicothe. At present it is rough and dangerous because of its narrowness.

Improvement of the road will make the Scioto Trail between Circleville and Portsmouth one of the finest highways in Ohio.

State plans to resurface Route 27 in Deerfield and Union townships, Ross county, through Clarksville, have been put aside until the highway department's finances can be readjusted. Legislative action prevented the department from continuing plans for part of its 1937 program.

NEW SPECIES OF TREE MAKES ITS BOW IN VILLE

A new species of tree has made its appearance in Circleville—the Maplum Bowum Tyusus or Bow Tie Maple.

The tree, at the home of M. E. Carothers, 327 E. Union street, gets its name from a freak growth in the trunk, discovered when workmen felled it to make way for a new sidewalk. The trunk was sawed so that a formation of dark wood in the center shows in the exact shape of a bow tie about 10 inches from tip to tip.

The Carothers family may have something there.

RADIO RIFLES

W. C. Fields, whose radio listening had as much as anything to do with his health recovery, now has a receiver in every room, including the kitchen, at his beautiful Bel-Air home. Beateous Benay Venuta, the MBS warbler, is in Hollywood talking contracts. Jerry Cooper, still on the sick list, is gaining rapidly. Bing Crosby's Del Mar track is such a financial success that you can't buy a share of its stock. Bob Burns and wife are crazy about their new home. Parkyarkus will join Joe Penner in making the picture, "An Apple a Day." The assignment means Parky will have to delay again his European honeymoon with his bride, Thelma Leeds. Abner (of "Lum and ") has just bought another animal, this time a riding horse for his wife. The Abner menagerie now boasts two horses, a cow and calf, and four dogs. Republic Pictures has bought film rights to "The Lone Ranger" serial, which will also be serialized on the celluloid.

STARS TO SUGGEST PLAYS

Preparing for another Radio Theatre season, Cecil B. DeMille has asked many of the leading Hollywood stars to submit a list of four or five plays they would like to do on the air.

A year's experience as director of the full-hour dramatic show confirmed DeMille's belief that actors and actresses often give their best performances in plays they select themselves.

DeMille has received a handful of vehicle suggestions from stars. He found that few of them had chosen the same play, and their lists mentioned roles all of the same type the star had been accustomed to playing on the stage or screen.

None of the comedians wanted to play "heavy" roles; none of the dramatics wanted comedy parts; no screen stars wanted a matronly role or vice versa, and no stars who had made their reputations as great singers wanted to sing musical comedy.

Although he is busy making his next movie, "The Buccaneer," which will be half-finished when the Radio Theatre returns to the air on Mon. Sept. 13, DeMille had read several dozen plays and dictated lengthy memorandums on each.

Stoney's Shade Tree Gives Summer Comfort

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Phone Ashville 79

Ed. Messick, our faithful and kindly disposed mail trucker, with his run between the postoffice and the N. & W. depot, is located much of the time when he is not on duty, under what many of us know as "Stoney's shade tree." It is actually a fine place to anchor for an hour or two during these hot days, and if there is anything "stirring" in way of news it usually "turns the corner" here. So we do some of our loafing with Ed. Both of us having been here a "good while" know about and tell a lot about how it used to be. Ashville, in its "wild and woolly" days never missed having at least one fight or something each week. And many of these "parties" we remember.

Sam and Mrs. Baughman of Athens were recent guests of Dr. Joseph Staley and family. Mrs. Baughman is Mrs. Staley's mother. Friday, Mrs. Cruik, Mrs. Staley's sister, and her two sons, Karl and George of Lancaster were visitors at the Staley home. Mrs. Mary Young is the guest of Mrs. Lou Vause Harrison township, this week. Miss Virginia Thompson of Kenton spent over the week-end with Miss Marguerite Hoover. T. R. and Mrs. Accord spent last Sunday with Mrs. Maud Kent and Margaret Warner. Desmer and Mrs. Spangler attended the Dilley reunion at Rising Park, Lancaster, last Sunday and also visited with Mr. Spangler's sick mother.

If you can't "take it" you would better keep away from Tom's. John Sark and what few are yet alive of the "Sun Flower brigade" are busy making "funeral arrangements" and burial of the Donkey Court Bill, John Sark, Elmer Malone, Jose Hedges, Clyde Brinker, Dick Hedges and Harry Topolosky are chief pall bearers. Tom Accord and Bill Curry and numerous other F. D. R. supporters, are the sorrowful friends of the deceased. Dr. Gardner has kindly offered his services to deliver a fitting eulogy. Everything and everybody gets the "once over" at Tom's, and if you don't know most everything, better keep out of the argument.

Township trustee Russel Reid, same as most everybody else this year, has a fine patch of Early Ohio potatoes. But it is not the potatoes in particular, we want to tell you about. One of the thrifty vines he brought in to show us, had on it, what is called a "seed ball." Whether or not potatoes can be grown from these seeds we do not know, and if any of our readers have this information, we would be glad to know about it.

And while telling of potatoes, it reminds us that our Dick Hedges, a township trustee, too, is, with his force, beginning to dig and market his crop of tubers which he thinks may yield as many as twelve hundred bushels. They will be marketed by our Fisher & Son, Bill & Bill. And these 1200 bushels of potatoes is not all that Mr. Hedges has in his truck patch this year. There are 7600 hills of staked tomatoes which are just beginning to ripen. And too, you may recall that about six weeks ago, we gave the exact figures as how Elmer Malone and Dick Hedges had planted an acre of lima beans, of some extra special variety, that at a certain price per quart, would bring in an almost certain return of five thousand dollars in real cash. We would be glad to tell you more about this production variety of bean, but the boys are not haphazard on any information about the new lima bean they are growing this season.

Fire Chief William Cloud and his assistants, Hoadley Brintlinger, Charles Fortner and Desmer Spangler made a run, by call, Tuesday noon to the farm of Cliff Dreisbach, the old Dill Weigand homestead, on highway 23. They were threshing there and the strawpile had caught fire and was entirely destroyed. The rear of the threshing machine was scorched by the heat but not greatly damaged.

Loy Smith, son of Orren and Mrs. Smith, aged thirteen, was seriously hurt in a team runaway at his home near Lockbourne. He was driving a team of horses hitched to a manure spreader. The horses became frightened and ran away throwing young Smith under the machine which passed over his body. He is to undergo an operation at White Cross hospital today.

The footpads who waylaid Emerson Squire and robbed of his money and watch on Monday evening of last week, are under arrest and in jail. They were arrested when attempting to pawn his watch which was returned to him.

Harry Beaver while coming by auto to Ashville from his home in Groveport Tuesday, drove just a little too near a deep ditch on the creek road and overturned. John Hay and others assisted him in getting out. Don't believe anything of the kind, he was perfectly sober when we saw him. Harry, for many years, was a resident of South Bloomfield and very well remembers the old stage coaches and how they were operated.

Rev. O. W. Smith received an ugly wound a few days ago when coming into contact with a sharp hook which had been driven into the trunk of an apple tree. He had mounted the tree which stood in the dooryard of Mrs. Sofa Briggs and had shaken some apples from it, as Mrs. Briggs had directed. In descending the tree, his finger caught on the hook causing a severe wound. Doctor Gardner is treating him.

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE

Mrs. Anna McKinley, of Scioto township, was granted a divorce from James McKinley, Tuesday, in Judge J. W. Adkins' court after a hearing of her charge of cruelty. Mrs. McKinley was given custody of a minor child and allowed alimony for its support.

MANY PICKAWAY COUNTIANS TO SEEK TOWNSHIP TRUSTEE POSTS

TERMS OF FOUR YEARS TO DRAW MANY CITIZENS

All Petitions Must be In Election Board's Hands By September 3

LONE PRIMARY PLANNED

Justice of Peace Contest Attracts Attention

A new state law, which elects two township trustees for four years and a third for two years, is effective in Ohio next Fall. Sept. 3 is the deadline for candidates to file petitions for the election, which is 30 days later, Nov. 3. Indications are that many countians will seek trustee jobs this year.

Previously, all three trustees were named for two-year terms. The legislature approved a bill fixing terms at four years, but arranging to "stagger" the officials so that all will not be candidates at the same time. The 1937 election will see two persons named for the full four-year term with the third chosen for just half the legal tenure.

After this Fall's election all trustees will be chosen for four years, two to be named at one time and one at the other.

Candidates filing their petitions for trustee must designate whether they seek four- or two-year terms.

The only primary scheduled in the county Aug. 10 will be in Circleville. The state law provides that no municipality of less than 2,000 population shall hold a primary election except through a request by a large percentage of citizens. Since the cost of such a primary would be prohibitive, all municipalities of the county conduct their elections through the petition system.

Mayors of all villages in the county will be up for election. Incumbents are Harry L. Margulis, Ashville; William D. Radcliff, Williamsport; A. J. Mowery, Tilton; George Beers, Commercial Point; Dr. E. A. Secoy, Darbyville, and C. V. Stebleton, New Holland.

School boards, justices of the peace, constables, township clerks and trustees will be named in villages and townships next Fall.

No bond issues have been submitted yet, and neither are there any local option petitions in circulation although at least one is being discussed.

The primary in Circleville is attracting considerable attention, although the race for justice of the peace of Circleville township has drawn more candidates. Frank A. Marion, B. T. Hedges, Elmer Merriman and George Strawser have filed petitions for the office with Harold O. Eveland, the incumbent, expecting to file at any time. Arthur Fohl another possibility, has not yet filed his petition. The justice of the peace election is non-partisan.

Four are seeking the Circleville mayor's position now held by William J. Graham, the only Republican in the race. William B. Cady, former mayor, Adrian Yates, and Boyd Horn are candidates on the Democratic ticket.

All candidates seeking offices for which there is salary must pay a filing fee of one-half of one percent of the remuneration when they present their petitions. Approximately 200 Ohio municipalities will conduct primaries in August.

Defends Discharges

A FORD Motor company witness, testifying before the national labor relations board in Detroit, defended the discharge of three Highland Park workers, all members of the U. A. W. A. The witness, Dennis A. McKinney, a foreman in the Highland Park paint manufacturing department, admitted, however, that fear of strikes contributed to the discharge of the workers suspected of conspiring to hinder production. McKinney was the eleventh witness called by the company in its defense against the Wagner act through unfair labor practices.

BOMBS, FLAMES GREET RULERS

Police armored cars patrolled the streets and many homes were searched for arms after the appearance of announcements that the Irish Republican army planned to hold a meeting to protest the visit of the king and queen.

Four thousand special police were mobilized, and many were stationed on rooftops to prevent disorders.

Wild Demonstration

Their majesties' arrival had been preceded by nightingale demonstrations along a 50-mile stretch of the Free State-Northern Ireland border. Police scoured the countryside in an attempt to round up armed groups which had wrecked customs houses on both sides of the border.

The Mount Pleasant railway bridge near Dundalk was mined and partly wrecked, delaying thousands of visitors from the Free State en route to Belfast to see the royal visitors. The railway bridge at Faughart on the Dublin-Belfast main line also was mined, but passenger and mail trains were allowed to proceed after a three-hour delay.

Outbreaks Planned

Officials believed the demonstrations had been planned so carefully by Free State extremist Republicans in an attempt to prevent Free State citizens from participating in the welcome to the king and queen.

Both Free State and Northern Ireland customs posts were destroyed at Tullydonnell near Crossmaglen, at Kilkenny on the Louth Armagh border, at Faughart Bridge on the Monaghan Armagh border and at Middletown near Keady.

The customs house at Carrickarn, seven miles from Newry, was blown up, apparently in an attempt to prevent motorists from driving to Belfast. A large detachment of police was rushed to Newry under orders to remain throughout the day.

"JEEP NUMBER" VICTIM TELLS OF ROUGH DANCE

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 28. —

(UP)—A city court judge today considered the question of whether Mrs. Alice Moriarty was the victim of a swag maneuver in a jam session during a "jeep number" or whether she was assaulted by George Gangnagel.

Gangnagel protested the third degree assault charge against him when called before Judge Harry M. Zimmer.

"I never saw this woman before in my life," he said. "I was swinging around during a hot dance number and I felt my elbow hit something and I heard her cry out. The next thing I knew I saw her holding her face, which was bleeding. It was all an accident."

"I was dancing and the first thing I know this young man deliberately aimed his right fist at my nose," Mrs. Moriarty contended.

A policeman testified "it was the jeep dance they were dancing and that's dangerous at any time."

The judge decided to let the probation department sift other versions of the affair and marked the case for disposition on Aug. 3.

ADVANCE SEEN IN SALE PRICE OF AUTOMOBILES

NEW YORK, July 28.—(UP)—Higher production costs due to unauthorized strikes may force General Motors to increase the selling prices of its automobiles, the corporation said today.

According to the earnings report for the second quarter of 1937, the corporation's earnings declined $22,377,272 compared to a similar period last year.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of the board, ascribed the loss to the "inability of union leadership to control their own followers." He said a trend toward rapidly increasing costs "must of necessity reflect itself in the form of a substantial increase in selling prices."

To add to the rejoicing it was reported that Gen. Yin Ju-Keng, head of the Japanese-sponsored regime which has exerted authority in a portion of Hopei province in northeast China had fled with 200 bodyguards and that his regime was at an end.

It was asserted that Yin's "peace preservation corps," or militarized police, had deserted to the Chinese army.

Chungtow Captured

A Chinese government communique issued at Nanking, the national capital, asserted that the Chinese stormed and took Chungtow, 15 miles east of the city, and unofficial sources asserted that the Chinese captured seven war planes south of Peiping and shot down one bomber.

The American marines, eager for a fight, stood their guard at the west gate of the embassy quarter, on the American embassy side.

This position was a dangerous one. The gate is just north of the Chungwa gate which leads from the Tartar or northern part of the city to the southern part or Chinese city. The embassy quarter lies on the Tartar side of the boundary wall.

A United States marine was wounded today when firing broke out within a few hundred yards of the American embassy in Peiping.

American consular sources said that the marine's wound was slight.

It was reported that he suffered a bullet wound in a fight between Chinese military policemen and Japanese plain clothes operatives outside the embassy quarter.

Americans Take Refuge
Almost all of the 600 Americans took refuge in the embassy quarter, behind the sandbag fortifications thrown up at all the entrances.

America's contribution to the defense force was 500-odd marines under Col. John Marston, compact, hard bodied and ready for any emergency.

The position was made more dangerous because more and more Chinese troops filtered into the Persistent lobby rumors that the president would call congress back in the Autumn to act on the apparently abandoned farm bills have been without confirmation and appeared to be more of a threat than a reality.

The date of adjournment still was indefinite, with Barkley refusing to speculate on it because of the administration strategy in attempting to drive the program through before the move to go home gets out of hand.

Closing Ideas Vary

Other democratic leaders, particularly sympathetic toward the wages and hours bill provision that congress would fold up a week from next Saturday—a date also selected by Republican Leader Charles McNary, who has made reservations for August 5. Others, less optimistic, believed adjournment would come about August 14.

The hope for farm legislation at this session appeared entirely abandoned after failure of agricultural organization representatives to agree on a program at a conference with Chairman Marvin Jones, D. Tex., of the house agricultural committee.

RAILROAD PASSENGERS

AMERICANS are on the go this summer, this summer, and not only are the highways humming but the railroads are booming. Recent reports indicate that they are breaking all records for passenger traffic. This is mainly due, as is pointed out by a railroad executive, to the three facts of greater comfort, faster speed and reduced cost. There have been more than 8,000 passenger trains and Pullman cars air-conditioned, there are now more than 500 mile-a-minute trains, and the average fare of less than two cents a mile, in coaches, which themselves are much improved, is said to be the lowest in this century.

It is a striking example of the way better service and lower prices can revive an industry that long seemed to be losing ground. From now on, the railroads should be able to hold their own, not against automobiles, but along with them.

TROTZKY GOES FISHING

NEWS from Mexico, regarding Leon Trotsky, will reassure many people. The Communist firebrand has left the Mexican capital and gone fishing, "accompanied by only one policeman and members of his secretarial staff." He is an expert fisherman, say his aides, and has wanted to fish for a long time, but "has felt obliged to continue his attacks on Stalin and others, and to write articles giving his views on current developments in the Soviet Union."

He needn't have been so conscientious about that. What he wrote and said doesn't seem to have accomplished much in Russia, anyway, except to make a lot of people madder at him. He can probably do more for the world by just fishing for a few weeks.

It would be a wonderful thing, too, if Stalin would go fishing. Also the premier of Japan and a few Japanese generals. Hitler and Mussolini, too. And some of those Spanish leaders. Indeed, if it isn't treasonable to suggest such a thing, it might do a whole lot of good in this country if Congress would pack up and go fishing.

An editor says "there is necessarily no conflict between serious thinking and summer heat." None whatever. We can think quite seriously about summer heat, especially as our vacation time nears.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up to an early start, one of the requirements of the vacation period when the newspaper boys and girls go East and West North and South on vacations they earn and enjoy as much as do those of other professions. Soon away to the coffee shop and then to the post. At the plant did find work piled high and at the desk remained right through the lunch hour and until mid-afternoon.

Out and about the paves, exchanging greetings with Wallace Crist, who now is in full charge of the big department store bearing his name, chatting with Phil Stein and bowing in fine friendliness to Judge Adkins Meeker Terwilliger and John Ryan. Heard complaints around the ville about Gallaher's air conditioning system. Seems as though ever since that device was installed that the mercury has been hovering in the lower levels and one old timer was inclined to blame the condition on man's attempt to alter the weather.

Read with interest the statement by Sheriff Radcliff that he will jail any and all gamblers entering Pickaway county after being chased out of other villages where cleanups now are in progress. Charlie always has been against gambling and all the more power to him. Those senseless enough to go up against professional gamblers, whatever their game, surely are in need of guardians. However, most professional gamblers I have known have ended up without a cent, giving rise to the question of who does win if the sucker can not and the gambler invariably ends up broke? Somebody gets the money. Could it be crooked officials who encourage and protect gaming?

See by the papers that Japan continues its "defense" war in China, even to the extent of ordering Chinese soldiers out of Peking. And that Il Duce says Europe has no moral obligation to pay war debts to the United States. For one, the scrivener hopes that Europe does not pay, for non-payment means that getting us into another European struggle will prove most difficult. The price will be cheap enough.

John L. Lewis's plan for a third party is a bubble that will burst with a loud report at the polls—I hope. We have enough professional politicians now and that we would support 50 percent more is extremely doubtful. See that in 27 months the federal government has poured $357,665,000 into Ohio to care for the unemployed. Wonder how much of that was spent for grapefruit juice, of which the jobless of the village recently received a big shipment? No, I don't begrudge them grapefruit juice. Dole out honeydew melons and caviar for all I care.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

GARNER PLEADED FOR HARMONY

WASHINGTON — To those who sat in the secret Senate Judiciary Committee meeting which finally buried the Supreme Court Bill, it was one of the most dramatic sessions ever held on Capitol Hill.

Republican members of the Committee looked on with ill-concealed delight while Democrats, complete unabashed, openly pleaded for party harmony.

Vice President Garner, just arrived from the Robinson funeral, was the chief pleader. He told his Democratic colleagues, in effect, that it was a question of the party or the bill, and let's stand by the party.

"I want to do anything that can be done to help the country," Garner told the Judiciary Committee, "but I also want to save the Democratic Party from a bust-up. That isn't going to do any of us Democrats any good. The President is licked and he knows it. But don't let's bloody his nose."

This remark was directed at Senator Ed Burke. The irreconcilable Nebraskan, who three years ago was elected as a "100 percent Roosevelt supporter", wanted the opposition to fight to the last ditch against any kind of a judicial measure, even one relating to lower court procedure.

"We can work out a bill that will satisfy everybody," continued the Vice President. "I told Senator Wheeler to 'write his own ticket'. I meant that; the Administration means it. Let's get together and stop all this fighting. We want to be brothers once more."

"What about political reprisals?" demanded Senator Pat McCarran, who must run for re-election next year and is under hot fire in Nevada.

"There will be none of that so far as my influence can prevent it," Garner replied. "We don't want war; we want peace."

"I am sure we Republicans will be glad to help you, Mr. Vice President," observed Senator Borah with a wide grin.

CAUSE OF FEAR

Two reasons underlie the apprehension of the anti-court bill crowd:

1. Fear that the Supreme Court next term may go Old Guard again and throw out important liberal measures.

Invalidation of the Holding Company Act, or denial of the Government's right to lend money to States and communities to build power plants, would be certain to boomerang against the oppositionists. Either would give Roosevelt a powerful weapon against the group that has now defeated him.

2. The bitter attacks of the antis against the President may encourage rivals to take the field against them using these personal slams as an issue. Some of the antis now wish privately that they hadn't been so vituperative against Roosevelt. For while he took a terrific trouncing, the antis admit that his personal popularity is little impaired.

RUSTLE OF SILKS

COPYRIGHT, RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:
Ambitious to become a dress designer, Mary Barrett accidentally meets Tony Castle, owner of a smart New York dress shop. After examining some of her sketches, he offers her a job. They see more and more of one another and begin to fall in love. During the absence of Francine Long, Tony's head buyer who dislikes Mary, the latter successfully designs some gowns for an important client, Liane Weston, a leading actress. Something goes wrong during the final fitting, the actress goes into a tantrum and Tony publicly blames himself for letting Mary, still inexperienced, design the gowns. Mary feels certain Miss Long purposely altered one of the dresses.
(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 8

EXACTLY 24 hours following the nightmare at the studio, Tony Castle brought his roadster to a grinding stop before the brownstone house on Fifty-fifth street. He ran up the long flight of steps carrying a white box from one end of which protruded long floral stems.

On his face there was a look of boyish contrition, of speculative sheepishness as he rang the bell under the neat card reading, Barrett. He pressed the bell hard and waited. He pressed it again and again.

A door on the landing opened and Johnson, the superintendent, stood there. "What's the matter, Tony?" he asked. "If yer lookin' fer Miss Barrett, she ain't here."

"Know when she'll be back?" "She didn't say as she knew. She jes' paid her rent, says I should rent the apartment and goes off with her trunk."

A curious sensation attacked Tony in the region of his bosom. "Where has she gone?"

"She didn't leave no forradin' address," he told the misanthropic old man. "Is there anything I could do?"

Tony rocked uncertainly. "She didn't leave any . . ." He recovered himself and presented the florist's box to the man. "Yes, you can give these to 'the missus' with my compliments."

When, two months later, Mary's letter arrived with French postmark and instructions for Mrs. Johnson to send along her mail, there was no Mrs. Johnson to receive it. The Johnsons had moved on, and with them went the chance that Mary would ever see the note which Tony Castle wrote her that night from the very bottom of his heart.

The tall, bronzed young man in white flannels making his fifth turn about deck. He wasn't idling; he was looking for the girl in brown linen.

There were girls in white, pink and yellow linen and he knew most of them. That was the year when every debutante in New York was on her way to Europe for "the little season."

He didn't stop for them. He did have to stop to greet a dowager who had the place next to his grandmother's at Newport. He did have to stop to promise an Austrian countess that he would pay her a visit at her schloss in the Tyrol. He escaped from her only to fall into the clutches of Tommy Wister who had been at Yale with him. Meet Tommy at the Yale club, Ciro's, at Auteuil or any other civilized place and he had nothing important to say but there was no stopping him. He was hard to stop at that moment while the tall, bronzed young man tried to get away, searched the group playing deck tennis.

Ping. A small celluloid ball struck him below the ear. And then, while Tommy launched on a story of urging his sporting club to get up something of other, SHE was at his feet, recovering her lost ball, saying "sorry," without looking at him. The girl in the brown linen!

He tried to unloosen Tommy's grip. "Listen, Tommy, I'll see you at the bar later and you can tell me about the giraffes."

"I'm Andy MacTavish of Scotland Yard."

"It wasn't giraffes," Tommy wailed dolefully after the departing figure. "Who ever heard of giraffes boxing? It was kangaroos!"

"Twenty-one all," the girl said and threw down her racquet. She had picked up her yellow sweater and disappeared by the time the bronzed young man got to the table tennis group. He looked at his watch—12:50. No good looking for her before lunch.

The hands of that watch were together at 4:20 when he rounded the deck and saw her again. Saw her rising from a deck chair. She was gone before he got there. He leaned over the chair and read the card. If he knew her name . . . He read: Rev. August Schweizer.

He shook his head dubiously. She might be a reverend but he doubted the August.

The bronzed young man, now in mess jacket stood a little to the right of the orchestra platform in the white-and-gold salon. He hummed the tune of the popular song as he watched the dancers:

"Oh give me something to remember you by . . . when you are far away from me . . ."

He broke off when he saw the girl in the cinnamon lace gown with her crown of copper curls. He didn't wait for her to circle the room in the arms of her partner—probably the Rev. August Schweizer, he thought—but strode easily through the dancers and tapped the partner on the shoulder. "May I cut, please?"

She gave him the briefest look and fitted into his arms smoothly. They danced beautifully, silently, for a few minutes.

"I'm Andy MacTavish of Scotland Yard," he said.

"So that's why you've been tracking me down?"

"So you noticed?"

She didn't say anything.

"But, my dear, such an unpleasant alias," August Schweizer.

"I only use that occasionally. I have a number of others just as intriguing. You must try them sometime."

How Typhoid and Typhus are Eradicated

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IT WAS a hundred years ago that Dr. William Wood Gerhard, in Philadelphia, pointed out that the symptoms and the character of typhoid fever were peculiar to itself and unlike other fevers with which it was then confused.

Before his work, nearly any continued fever was called typhus. Typhus fever is a distinct entity and entirely different from typhoid.

Gerhard did not have the advantage of being able to isolate the germs of the two diseases which can easily be proved to be different. He had to rely on the physical changes in the body produced by the two diseases.

He pointed out that the spots of inflammation and the ulcers in the intestine in typhoid fever did not occur in the other disease. "It is as impossible," he wrote, "to change typhoid into typhus fever, as it is to change the eruption of measles into the pustules of smallpox."

This was clear thinking and revolutionary thinking for his day.

His Almost Disappear

Both typhus fever and typhoid fever virtually have disappeared by now. Typhus fever went out shortly after Gerhard's time, when more humane and hygienic methods of handling prisoners in jails were introduced. Overcrowding on ships was also reduced and this action contributed to the decline of typhus.

Typhoid, however, continued its reign for many years after Gerhard. It was one of the dreaded intestinal infections of this time of year. Fifty years ago at this season you would have heard of one or two of your friends down with typhoid every week.

By contrast, I have before me the record of the number of cases of typhoid in the large cities of the United States in 1936. In 18 large cities there was no death from typhoid fever last year. Not one. The actual number of cases is not recorded, but as the mortality of typhoid is about ten per cent, it might be argued statistically that less than ten cases of typhoid occurred in these cities. That is quite an achievement. No large city had more than ten deaths, which means by the same reasoning that no large city in the United States had as many as a hundred cases of typhoid fever in 1936. In 1886 there would not have been less than a thousand!

What has brought this about? The recognition that typhoid fever is a water-borne disease and the regular supervision of the water supply. Next the practice of preventing typhoid individually by vaccination. This should still be carried out. While traveling in Europe recently, I was surprised to find that one member of my party never had typhoid inoculation. She drank nothing but bottled water from then on—by orders.

from us. We've got a pair of brown and white shoes and you should try cleaning that combination.

THE EDITOR.

You're Telling Me!

Dear Editor:

Here is a problem which ever my scientific brain is unable to cope with. I have examined it from every angle and I still see no solution. What's worrying me is how can an amateur like me polish a pair of these two-tone shoes?

I got a pair of these black-and-white affairs and they looked swell. However, a picnic lessened their appearance, to put it politely, so I decided to clean them. First I blacked the black part and then put the white fluid on the white uppers.

This, to my surprise, not to say horror, left white splotches on the black. I figured I had reversed the process so, the next time, I put the white stuff on first and then added the black.

Imagine my chagrin, if you can, when this time I discovered there were black splashes on the white. It began to look like a plot or something to upset my usual calm equilibrium so I took them to a shoeshine boy and told him to see what he could do about it.

The boy turned out a perfect job. The white uppers were all white and the black all black, when he got through with the shoes. But how does he do it? Is it a trade secret or something?

SIMPLE DIVISION

"Now boys," said the teacher, "suppose in a family there are five children and the mother has only four potatoes to divide among them. She wants to give each child an equal share. What should she do?"

Silence reigned in the room. Everybody was calculating diligently. Finally, one little boy put up his hand.

"Well, Johnny, what would you do?" asked the teacher.

"Mash the potatoes, ma'am."

SCIOTO VALLEY GRANGERS FREE HALL OF DEBT

Scioto Valley Grange celebrated the cancellation of the debt on its grange hall Tuesday evening with a ceremony which included the burning of the mortgage.

About 50 members of the grange were present and 21 members of the juvenile grange were in attendance, by special permission, for the occasion.

Ralph Stevenson, master of the grange, was in charge of the meeting. He was assisted by Ralph Fisher treasurer, Mrs. Elliott Crites secretary, Mrs. Frank Jinks chaplain, Mrs. Herman planist, and two boys, Billy Speakman and Jack Irwin, who served as pages in the ceremony attendant to the burning of the note. The plate on which the note was burned was a gift of Mrs. J. W. Vause, who is the oldest member of the grange, and also a charter member of the society.

Miss Bernice Smith read an interesting paper giving the history of Scioto Valley grange. Miss Louise Fisher sang the grange theme song, the words and music of which were written by Nelle Beckett Moore, sister of Mrs. Joseph Fichter, wife of the state lecturer. Reminiscences by four charter members of the grange, including Mrs. J. W. Vause, Miss Sadie Palm, Ben Vause, and Ralph Stevenson, followed. A clipping from a newspaper dated November 8, 1919, telling of the dedication ceremonies which took place October 30, 1919, was read by Mrs. William Bower. The grange song completed the program.

AT THE GRAND
Wendy Barrie, a talented musician as well as a charming actress, wrote a song while working in Universal's "Breezing Home," the film at the Grand. A New York music firm became interested in publishing the number, but said Wendy's title had been used previously and requested the actress to devise another title. Now she's discovered that trying to create an appealing name for a song is almost as difficult as the first writing. Parle Kelly, well known New York pianist, collaborated with Wendy.

BIRDS COP FROM ALL STARS AT COLUMBUS

Hand Picked Team Goes Down to Tune of 7-4 in Interesting Fray

LATE RALLY REGISTERS

Five Runs Pushed Across in Eighth Inning to Clinch Victory

COLUMBUS, O., July 28—(UP)—Team balance again today had proved superior to individual brilliance in the fourth annual American Association All-Star game. The Columbus Red Birds, host club by virtue of a first place position on July 15, defeated an All-Star combine picked from the rosters of the other seven teams by a 7 to 4 count here last night.

It marked the third time in the brief history of the Association's annual contest that the first place club had downed the All-Stars. In 1934 and 1935, the Minneapolis Millers were the victors. The only All-Star triumph came last year at the expense of the Milwaukee Brewers.

A big eighth inning rally that netted five runs gave the Red Birds the triumph. The counters were pushed over with only three outs. Two costly errors by Alta Cohen, diminutive southpaw pitcher representing Toledo, were instrumental in the scoring.

The All-Stars went into the last of the eighth with a 4 to 2 lead. Cohen, who had pitched the seventh round and escaped without damage, opened the Columbus' eighth by walking Johnny Rizzo. Dick Seibert singled. Pat Ankenman bunted and Cohen headed the ball into left field in trying to get Rizzo to third. The Columbus outfielder scored. Seibert took third and Ankenman second.

Jordan then singled to drive in another run and then Cohen caused additional trouble by throwing Webb's sacrifice into center field. The veteran Wiley Moore of Kansas City was rushed into the contest at this point. Chambers singled to drive in the fourth run and the fifth, was scored on a long fly to the outfield.

Scarsella, Cincinnati's outfielder, hit one off Bob Smith with a teammate on base and two out in the ninth to give the Reds a 3-2 triumph over the Boston Bees.

Medwick, Cardinal outfielder, rifled one off Al Smith with two out in the ninth to give St. Louis a 9-8 victory over the New York Giants.

All three blows had an effect on the standings. Rolfe's smash increased the Yanks' American league lead over the White Sox to 6 games. Scarsella's clout hoisted the Reds to a sixth place tie with Brooklyn in the National league. Medwick's wallop dropped the Giants 3 games behind the pace-making Chicago Cubs.

Rolfe's homer was an unhappy blow for Mickey Cochrane, who returned to the helm of the Tigers for the first time since his skull was fractured in three places by Bump Hadley on May 25. Cochrane, dressed in a brown business suit, directed from the bench. Joe DiMaggio hit homer No. 28 in the sixth inning.

Buddy Myer's single with the bases loaded in the ninth gave Washington a 6-5 victory over the White Sox. Buddy Lewis led the Senators' attack with 4 hits. The St. Louis Browns beat the Boston Red Sox, 8-5, and the Athletics trimmed Cleveland, 4-3.

The Cubs began a 21-game home stand by turning back Brooklyn, 5-2. The Cubs made three double plays to pull Tex Carleton out of tight spots.

After trailing, 8-1, at the end of the 4th inning the Giants pulled even with the Cards, 8-8, only to lose when Medwick hit his homer in the ninth. Carl Hubbell was pounded out of the box in the fourth when the Cards scored 8 runs. Blondy (they can't beat us) Ryan, bought from Milwaukee, joined the Giants and played shortstop. He made two hits and handled three chances without an error.

Lefty Grissom held the Bees to one hit until the ninth when Reis singled, Garms and DiMaggio doubled to put Boston ahead 2-1. Bob Smith retired the first two hitters to face him in the ninth. Then he hit Goodman with a

Reds Come From Behind to Down Bees and Climb Into Sixth Place

NEW YORK, July 28.—(UP)—Blow the trumpets for Red Rolfe, Les Scarsella and Joe Medwick, who yesterday broke up games with baseball's most thrilling play—a homer in the last inning.

Rolfe, Yankees' third baseman, blasted one off Jack Russell with a teammate on base to bring New York from behind to beat Detroit in the 11th, 6-5.

Scarsella, Cincinnati's outfielder, hit one off Bob Smith with a teammate on base and two out in the ninth to give the Reds a 3-2 triumph over the Boston Bees.

About This And That In Many Sports

Grissom in Van

When Lee Grissom, brilliant young southpaw star of the Cincinnati Reds, blanked the Boston Bees recently for his fifth shut-out of the season he became the first National league pitcher to register that many blankings since the 1934 campaign. In the latter season Dizzy Dean turned in seven shut-outs. Three of the scoreless games Grissom has pitched were against the Boston Bees.

McGee Mystery

One of the season's baseball mysteries surrounds Bill McGee, the husky right-hander whose pitching has kept the Columbus Red Birds in the thick of the American Association pennant chase. The day the front office of the St. Louis Cardinals ordered McGee back to the minors, Manager Frankie Frisch of the Cardinals had him warming up preparatory to starting a game against the Brooklyn Dodgers.

How Wild is Bob?

How wild is Bob Feller, the rookie fast ball phenomenon of the Cleveland Indians? A statistical expert endeavored to determine this in a recent game which the Iowa schoolboy pitched against the New York Yankees. During the contest Feller made 172 deliveries. An average game calls for 120 pitches and a well-pitched one takes approximately 100 pitches. In one game this spring Vernon Gomez of the Yankees made only 90 pitches.

Ohio Officials Out

Frank Lane and Dick Bray, prominent Ohio basketball officials, who have worked quite a few games in Madison Square Garden during the past several seasons, likely are to find themselves "out in the cold" when it comes officiating in the important games there during the 1937-38 campaign. If present plans are carried out all Garden games, with the exception of a contest featuring Notre Dame, will be handled exclusively by Eastern officials. The Irish would not agree to appear in the Garden unless some mid-western man worked their game.

IT IS RISKY business to credit an unimaginative partner with ability to see through anything unusual in your bidding tactics. When such a player sits opposite you, it will pay in the long run to make the situation as easily understandable as possible. Fancy tactics, which might prove profitable with the right kind of a partner, can get you in some terrible messes with the wrong kind.

South by this time that his partner would have redoubled the 6-Clubs double if he held a legitimate suit in connection with South's own holding, and that when North cue bid in diamonds he was certainly announcing that he held a fit in the spade suit. South, however, disregarded all this and went to 7-Clubs, which West, again, doubled and North was forced to bid 7-Spades, which was immediately set, one with the lead of the Diamond A.

If North held any other type of hand than the one he did, which had to end up in a spade contract, he would have redoubled the 6-Clubs, doubled, as not being vulnerable that would have netted his side more than seven doubled.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

When South opened the bidding on this deal with 1-Spade, North felt sure there was a probable slam in the hand, so over West's 2-Diamonds, North put in a bid of 4-Clubs. He felt that if the slam was reached, clubs would probably be the least desirable lead, and he hoped his bid would ward off a lead of that suit. When East overcalled with 5-Diamonds, South called 6-Clubs, which West doubled. North's next bid was 6-Diamonds.
